VMAC Makes 2020 Best Workplaces™ in Manufacturing List For The Second Year In A Row

Nanaimo, B.C. — For the second year in a row, VMAC has earned its position within the Great Place To Work®'s Best Workplaces™ in Manufacturing, joining the top 22 manufacturing organizations in Canada.

“A company is only as good as their people, so being recognized as one of Canada’s best places to work in manufacturing for 2020 and joining other leading manufacturers from all over the country brings great recognition to our team,” says Tod Gilbert, VMAC’s President. “We can all be proud that the friendly, supportive, and innovative culture we’ve created at VMAC has made a significant impact in the way we feel about being part of the VMAC family.”

To be eligible for the list, organizations in the manufacturing sector must already be Great Place To Work Certified™ in the last 12 months, which requires coworkers to complete a confidential Trust Index Survey®. In the comprehensive survey, employees must agree that their workplace is a ‘great place to work’. Following this, an additional culture application must be submitted by organizations to be considered for the specialized Best Workplaces™ lists, such as Manufacturing.

This latest Best Workplaces™ in Manufacturing certification comes at the end of a successful first half of 2020, where VMAC was once again named one of Canada’s Best Managed Companies, renewed its Great Place To Work Certification, and was awarded 2020 Business of the Year at the Business Excellence Awards.

“VMAC’s greatest achievements can be attributed to our world-class team of over 130 coworkers who exemplify a spirit of innovation and continuous improvement every day,” notes Gordon Duval, VMAC’s VP of Marketing and Sales. “The Great Place To Work® Certification and inclusion on the Best Workplaces™ in Manufacturing list recognizes VMAC’s extraordinary people-centric culture that has been the backbone of our company’s success.”
